

New school welcomes VIP students at Prep Transition day.

More than 50 future Prep students were given their first taste of school today at the Baringa State Primary School's Pre-prep Transition Day.

Book reading, finger painting, imaginative play and beading were on the agenda for the almost preppies with Dinosaur Land and Under the Sea being a huge hit.

Principal Noel Baggs said today's children were the School's most important people as they will be the first Prep Students to attend through to Year Six.

"We'll be taking lots of pictures of you over the years so that on your graduation day we'll be able to show everyone including your parents just how much you've grown," Mr Baggs said.

"Today's transition day has been all about giving you a positive and exciting taste of what school life is going to be about."

Baringa State Primary School is set to open its doors on the first day of the 2018 school term in January. Enrolments are open now.
